What You Can Do to Abolish the Death Penalty in Your State

Write to your local paper

One of the most critical ways to get the truth about the death penalty to your community is by writing to your local paper. There are numerous ways to accomplish this:

1. Write Op-Eds,

2. Write Letters to the Editor, or

3. Respond to news articles by posting online or by writing a response and sending it to the paper.

The Letters to the Editor Section is one of the most widely read sections of the newspaper and can reach a large audience. It allows community members to comment on the way issues are being addressed in the media, and allows readers to influence the topics covered by the local paper. Elected officials often monitor this section of the newspaper and take notice of constituents' opinions.